and every one on all the yachts was straining every nerve to catch the sound of the siren on the lightship.
On the racers the skippers at the wheels were paying all attention to their courses. The wind freshened and as it blew harder it sent in more fog, so that it was impossible to see more than two hundred yards ahead. For several minutes they drove on in this way, and then suddenly the fog lifted for a

Nat Herreshoff, who had arrived at the me on board his yacht Roamer, timed them. Both of these yachts had been navigated skilfully and passed close to the lightship, and soon were lost in the fog as they tore on toward the herbor.

The committee tug had been swept to the eastward by the tide, and the lift in the fog showed those on board where they were and she was soon in position. She made the line just in time to see the Queen shoot by ike a big white ghost, and then that yacht disappered in the mist, having suffered her first defeat of the year in a race in which she finished.

first defeat of the year in a race in which she finished.

Astern of the Queen came the Katrina. Her canvas flapped in the wind and she fairly seemed to fly by. She was a winner in her class and a winner of the Commodore's cup. The little boat, now many years old, had sailed a wonderful race, keeping on almost even terms with the big racers that have just been huilt. She had been navigated well too.

Then the fog shut in thick again; the light-ship's sirem screeched, the bell on the committee tug tolled and away off to the West the deeptoned horn on Whale Rock sounded. A smother of white loomed up. It was the Aurora, and the skipper had held the yacht too far to the east and almost missed the lightship. Her spinnaker was set. Capt. Christiansen sighted the lightship just in time and luffed the yacht sharply in order to skin shy on the right side, and in a moment the big spinnaker was lifted in the wind and fell over the stay. The move was successful, though, and the Aurora was the first of the spinnaker was lifted in the wind and fell over the stay. The move was successful, though, and the Aurora was the first of the sloops to finish.

To the eastward of the Aurora was the Effort. F. M. Smith was at the wheel, and with him was H. J. Robert, who sails the sloop Nereid. When they saw the move on the Aurora they were too far ahead and the yacht had to wear around and reach back to the lightship in order to fetch the line; and in the hurry of the manœuvre the balloon jib-topsail got foul of the stay. The error too cost her the race, for the Weelamoe managed to get across the line before the Effort could get back.

The Istalena followed and then came the Avenger, sailed by Charles Francis Adams, 2d. These were followed in order by the Taormina, Crusader, Irolita and Neola. One after another they loomed up like ghosts and could scarcely be distinguished, the fog was so thick, but they had been skilfully handled and well navigated. Some were to the eastward a trifle of the line, set there by the strong tide.

so thick, but they had been skilfully handled and well navigated. Some were to the eastward a trifle of the line, set there by the strong tide.

The schooner Lasca was the next in. R. P. Doremus was at the wheel, but she had gone far off her course and then, tacking, stood to the west and crossed properly. The vawl Windward followed. H. J. Gielow, her designer, was on board. To-day she was sailing against the Class D yachts and she had missed the line and had to return. C. Oliver Iselin was on board with H. F. Lippitt.

Then came the little Gardenia, sailed by A. H. W. Johnson and helped by Jimmy Sparkman, J. V. W. Lee and the human fly, C. D. Mower. Following the Gardenia came the big Ariadne, the Seneca, the Fleur de Lys of ocean racing fame and the Vencedor. The Kestral missed the line, but F. Burton Hart, her skipper, went back and crossed properly. The little schooner Venona went far to the east and when found asked where she was. When told that the line was half a mile to the south she gave up the race and headed for the harbor.

Commodore Vanderbilt gave the signal at New London to proceed to Newport at a o'clock. Soon afterward the racing fleet left the harbor for the starting line and the following fleet went after them. The Regatta committee made the line and then there was a long wait. There was a nice breeze from the southwest: the tide was running strongly to the west, and outside there was long. The small sloops got to the line but the large yachts were slow and the committee hoisted a postponement signal and waited. The fog thickened and for a time it did not look promising, but at 1943 it lifted again and the warning signal was made. The first leg of the course was to Race Rock. This point from the starting line is 4% miles southeast. It was a reach, and with the tide setting to the west the yachts were able to carry No. 1 jib topsails. The 30 footers were sent off first. The Alera crossed the line with the signal and then came the old Canada cup defender, Irondequoit. Burton Hart sent the Kestr

E. Burton Hart sent the Restral across next, and last in the class was Harold Vanderbilt's Trivia.

The 57 footers were the next sent away. The Avenger, Herreshoff's latest creation, led at the start. Mr. Adams sent her over the line at 11.05.37 at the windward end, and on her weather quarter was the Doris, another Boston owned boat and built by Herreshoff. She crossed at 11.05.42. This class might be called the Herreshoff class as the three other starters are the one designs that were built last spring. The Aurora took the leeward end and crossed at 11.08.30, but she was moving fast and soon took the lead from the Avenger. The Winsonie crossed at 11.08.54 and the Istalena was timed at 11.07.00. She was handicapped a few seconds.

The 68 footers were, sent away at 11.00.00. The Effort was first and the crack sloop was moving well. The Irelita was next at 11.11.25. Charles Lane Poor's Weetamoe followed at 12.11.45, and then came the Neola at 11.11.57.

Following these came the small schooners. In this class for this day's race was J. M. footens.

She crossed at 11.16.31. The schooner Taormina followed at 11.16.35, then came the Simitar at 11.16.54. The Eclipse, Earlina, Crusader and Venona were all handicapped, and were timed at 11.17.00. CAPTURES MOUNT VERNON HAN-

There was a marked improvement in the transportation afforded by the Union Railway Company yesterday, so that 10,000 persons did not experience the inconveniences of Saturday in reaching and leaving the Empire City race track. A new siding on Yonkers avenue was completed, so that the trolley cars carried the patrons of the race trains to and from the Mount Vernon station of the Harlem road with little or no trouble. There was plenty of power on the Jerome avenue line, but the congestion there was still too great. President James Butler of the Empire City track had a long conference with the trolley people during the day and said that the trouble would be entirely smoothed over in a day or two. Four favorites were beaten, but all of the winners, including Quadrille, a 10 to 1 shot, were substantially backed. Quadrille was victorious in the Mount Vernon Handicap, at about six furiongs. He got a perfect ride from little Moesel, who waited with the Rapallo geiding until Goldproof, the top weight who receded to 5 to 1, had shot his bolt as pacemaker in the middle of the stretch. Ther Quadrille went to the front and came home an easy winner by two lengths in 1:00 1-5 Goldproof hung on gamely, however, and had similar margin over Haensel, 7 to 5 favorite backed down from 2 to 1, who pulled up lame behind after beating Heine, 9 to 1, a head Diamond, who went up from 3 to 5, got a weak ride. Cloisteress, reduced to 12, was off

J. Lee, the noted colored jockey, rode two winners, Corncob and Albert Star, but he put up an inferior bit of horsemanship on T. P Hayes's La Veita, backed from 4 to 5 to 7 to 10, in the second race, for three-year-olds, at a mile and 100 yards. Lee rushed Le Veita to the front at the beginning of the far turn and made so much use of her that she backed up. Then T. E. Crist's Taunt, played from 3 down to 9 to 5 at the last moment, moved to the front and won rather easily by a length and a half from J. T. Williams's over the favorite. The time was 1:45 3-5.
Cornoob, a 7 to 10 favorite, was pounds the best in the opening event, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. Lee took him to the front without delay and the Nasturtium colt just breezed to the judges three lengths to the good in 1.07 3-5. New Garter, a 20 to 1 shot, stood a hard drive and took the place by a head from W. Gerst's Lady Sichel, backed from 10 to 8. Charley Rogers, Spunky and Ella G. were all well backed good things in this race. Lee handled Albert Star, 3 to 1 second choice, with marked skill in the fifth event, for wo-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. He kept the Star Shoot colt well in check while George H. Holle's Parisian Model, 9 to 10 rayorite, set a fast pace for half a mile. Then Lee got busy and Albert Star shot to the front to win in a drive by half a length from R. Steele's Inauguration, backed from 8 down to Steele's Inauguration, backed from 8 down to 5. Parisian Model was four lengths back. Polly Prim, a recent winner at Buffalo and Fort Erie, where she ran a mile in 1:38 and a mile and a sixteenth in 1:45, respectively, won the third race, at a mile and a sixteenth, in hollow fushion. At the start Shilling took her to the front and she set a rattling pace all the way, winning, used up, by ten lengths in 1.46. Pretension, who receded to 2 to 1, beat Tommy Waddell, backed down to 3, by half a length. The latter's rider made a protest of foul against Pretension for pinching him off in the stretch. The protest was not allowed, however.

in the stretch. The protest was not allowed, however.
Diggins, through apparent overconfidence, tossed the last race off when he eased up Cobmosa, 8 to 5 favorite, at the sixteenth pole. This event was at a mile, and Cobmosa seemed to be winning when Diggins stopped riding. Then Griffith hustled T. P. Hayes's Princess Orna, 11 to 5 second choice, with enough energy to win by a length in 141 2-5. Cobmosa managed to beat the rapidly closing Penrhyn, backed from 20 down to 8, by a nose. Shenandoah had early speed, but stopped.

NEW YORKS IN SECOND PLACE

BEAT THE PITTSBURG TEAM AGAIN AND PASS IT.

Poloists Outhit the Pirates and Come Away From the Smoky City With Four Games Out of Five to Their Credit - 8 to 8 the Score of the Final Ball Engagement.

When the New York Nationals got through with the Pittsburgs in the series of five games in the Smoky City, finished yesterday, they in the Smoky City, finished yesterday, they left the Pirates dazed and reeling. Puffed up with the expectation of strengthening their grip on second place at the expense of the Poloists, the Pittsburgers were maltreated to the extent of four defeats out of five games and were forced to give up second place to the New Yorks. No other National League games were played yesterday. New York, 5; Pittsburg, 3.
